

EATA CONFERENCE 2016

July 7-9 - Geneva - Switzerland

IDENTITY · INTEGRATION · BOUNDARIES

European Association for Transactional Analysis

- How can we encourage mutual respect in the face of multiple frames of reference?
- How do we find our bearings and protect our identity in a world that is constantly changing?
- How can we protect our integrity individually and as communities or countries while integrating people from many cultures?

Today, the increasing numbers of migrants in Europe and elsewhere around the world raises many concerns and concrete challenges.

The European Association for Transactional Analysis (EATA) and the hosting Swiss Association for Transactional Analysis – French speaking (ASAT-SR), are delighted to invite you to the July 2016 EATA Conference which aim is to develop a citizen reflection around these questions, carried by the human values of openness to the other.

We are looking forward to welcoming you in Geneva and to sharing our ideas and points of view during this important international venue.

Members, non-members, students are welcome!
Translation into French, German, Italian and Russian

Public: All people interested by these major societal questions in the domains of counselling, coaching, education, organization and psychotherapy.

More information on: www.eata2016.org

